

The Big Conversation 2022

Living and Coping with Trauma: The Unseen Force

Sunday, September 11, 2022, 2:00—5:00 p.m. Online

You must pre-register: <https://calvertlibrary.libnet.info/event/7018570>

An expert panel will address how trauma impacts all of our lives and how racial trauma is often an unseen force. Then participants will meet in small groups to explore what they have learned from the panelists, the impact of trauma, and possible solutions to address trauma.

Dr. Kevin Washington is associate professor and head of the sociology and psychology at Grambling State University. Dr. Washington is founder & CEO, Nyansapo Empowerment Works Unlimited Counseling Consultation.

Dr. Jules Harrell has been professor of clinical psychology at Howard University for 30 years. Dr. Harrell's research interests include psychometrics and psychology of racism, personality theories, assessment, and research, and psychophysiology.

The mission of the Big Conversation Partners is to cultivate public understanding of the need to uproot racism personally and in the systems that derive benefit and, therefore, perpetuate racism and privilege. This event addresses racial trauma.

Brought to you by Middleham and St. Peter's Parish with The Big Conversation Partnership for Dismantling Racism in Southern Maryland including: All Saints Episcopal Church – Sunderland, Calvert County Public Schools, CalvertHealth, Calvert Interfaith Council, Calvert Library, Calvert NAACP, Charles Library, Charles Co. NAACP, College of Southern Maryland, Community Mediation Centers of Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's, Concerned Black Women of Calvert Co, Emmanuel SDA Church – St. Leonard, Historic Sotterley, Remnant Center of Excellence, Inc., Patuxent Quaker Friends, Piscataway Park/Accokeek Foundation, St. Mary's College of Maryland, St. Mary's Co. Library, St. Mary's Co. NAACP, St. Mary's Co. Health Department, and St. Mary's Co. Public Schools.