"...we have company." She stepped forward to join "...you. Kirstie called earlier and said she was coming to meet us."

"Her date for the other night?"

Cameron shrugged. "She didn't say, but I'll let you greeting while I hover and make myself present."

Anabelle went back to the car to get the coffee and he turned to look at her. "You're sure you don't want to be a guest?"

"I do." He smiled and reached out his hand to her
"Mark's been here a few days. Today was as good a day as any."

"I do." He smiled and reached out his hand to her
"Mark's been here a few days. Today was Kirstie watched them disappear into the house and and hitched a hip onto a stool at the counter.

"Want some iced tea?" Anabelle asked she spoke her thoughts slowly.

"Sure, I'll get it." Kirstie walked around the kitchen board, took down two glasses, filled them with water, and on the fridge door and then poured in the tea.

"Thanks." Anabelle took the glass and then pulled a bag of salad greens from the limping as much as you used to." Anabelle spoke her thoughts out loud.

"Really?" Kirstie chuckled as she took the glass stool. "You know, Mother, you are a good person."

Smiling, Anabelle passed the glass to Kirstie. "You
be a guest?"

"I do." He smiled and reached out his hand to her
